EXPERIENCE

DRPCRD
Jun 2024 - Present

As the primary software developer at DRPCRD, I embraced increased responsibilities by mentoring a team of developers, fostering their growth and ensuring the delivery of high-quality, reliable solutions. My approach to maintaining excellence involved conducting meticulous code reviews to uphold standards and optimise performance. Collaborating closely with stakeholders, I adeptly translated their requirements into well-defined epics, which were further broken down into actionable, scoped tasks for the team.

I demonstrated strong planning and organisational skills by managing release cycles, ensuring deployments were timely and smooth, and consistently meeting project milestones. My role extended into project management, where I balanced multiple priorities and aligned team efforts with organisational goals, ensuring the consistent delivery of valuable features.

IDAC Media
Oct 2020 - Jun 2024

At IDAC Media, I thrived in a small, dynamic team, gaining creative freedom to shape processes, design choices, and the development stack. Over three years, I exceeded expectations, growing professionally and mastering the software development lifecycle. Collaborating closely with another developer, I honed design skills, implemented best practices, reviewed pull requests, and delivered customer-focused solutions.

Sole Trader
Sep 2020 - Present

As a sole trader, I excel in listening, adapting, and developing from my clients' requests. I have honed my skills in providing clients with well-thought-out plans of deliverables and executing those plans effectively. I have learned to prioritize client needs and create solutions that exceed their expectations. My dedication to client satisfaction and continuous improvement make me a valuable asset as a sole trader.

Parachute Digital
Oct 2019 - Mar 2020

At Parachute, I gained insight into the inner workings of a tech company, collaborating with design, marketing and analytics teams to understand product development and maintenance. As part of the development team, I contributed to building an ASP.NET website, deepening my knowledge of the framework and laying the foundation for my software expertise.
